DRAWING LIMITATIONS

Concept Drawing – For Client Approval

This drawing is solely for concept development and client presentation. It is not suitable for building regulations compliance, or construction. The design is preliminary and subject to change based on client feedback and further design refinement. It should not be used for construction, as it lacks detailed specifications and technical information.

This plan does not include structural details, setting out information, dimensions, or construction specifications. These will be developed in later design phases as required.

This drawing is intended exclusively for client review and approval. It must not be used for construction purposes. Noble Architecture's insurer will not cover any use beyond concept development without further refinement and written consent from Noble Architecture.
